Dedication

The staff of Flight '78 dedicates this book to Ft. Worth Country Day School and Mr. Robert D. Adams. Both have grown and changed, contributing to our school's and our yearbook's success. With the addition of the Fine Arts Complex, one more block in the school's growth was completed. One phase of Mr. Adams life ended as well, as he relinquished his twelve year duty of yearbook advisor. We thank both C.D.S. and Mr. Adams for devotion to the growth and improvement of our student body.

LOWER SCHOOL

Top: First graders Clayton Jones, Adrian Clay, Annabelle Brown, Jennifer Goldman, and Heath Lindley strengthen their reading ability by listening to a tape.

English Primed Lower Schoolers For Writing Guide

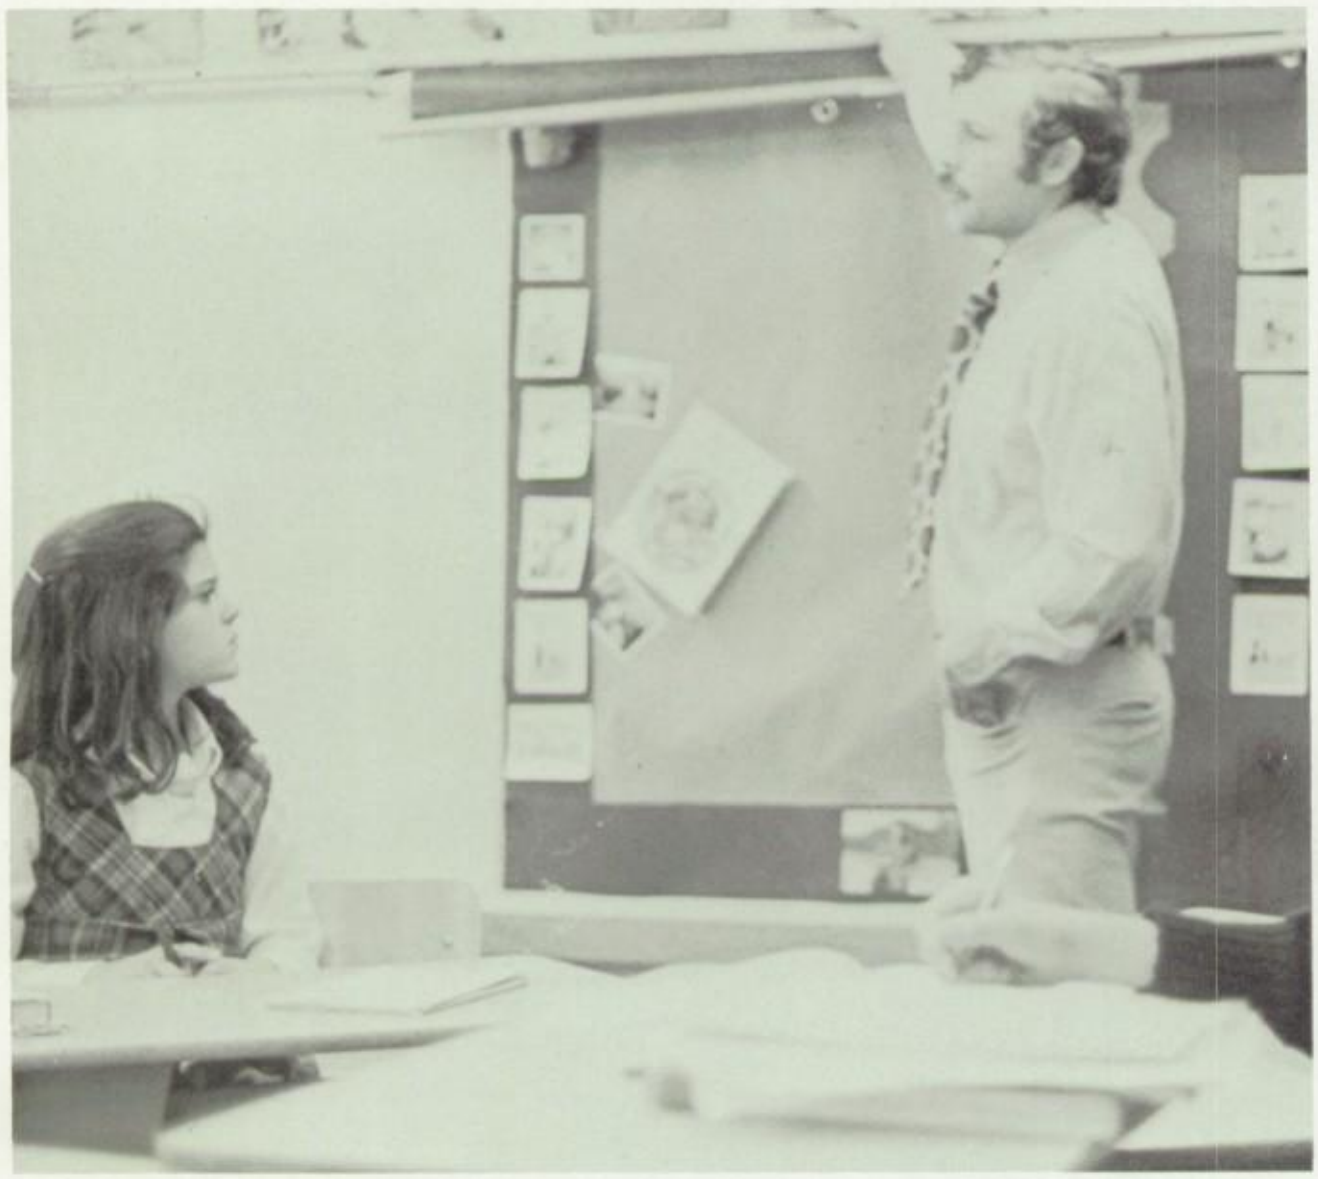
Lower school English consisted of reading, writing, and studying grammar. To make learning interesting and exciting, the students performed in plays, gave oral reports, and had creative writing contests. The fifth grade dazzled audiences with their performances of "Startrek" and "Nutrition Nightmare." In preparation for Mr. Bloch's notorious journals, the first graders learned to write complete sentences, while the second graders learned to punctuate sentences. The third graders extended their writing ability by composing book reports, while the fourth graders actually wrote stories and poems, and published them in their own newspaper. English in the fifth grade consisted of diagramming, diagramming, and more diagramming.



Lower Schoolers Studied Children Of The World

History in the Lower School ranged from the first grade's study of themselves to the third grade's study of other children around the world. The fourth and fifth Grades learned about the early inhabitants of the United States, the American Indians. The students in Mrs. Bonnie Carmichael's fourth grade history classes wrote research papers on various Indian tribes. The fifth graders learned about the customs and cultures of different types of Indians in Mr. Daniel Bloch's class. Second graders studied forts and made miniature models of what they believed Fort St. Augustine looked like.

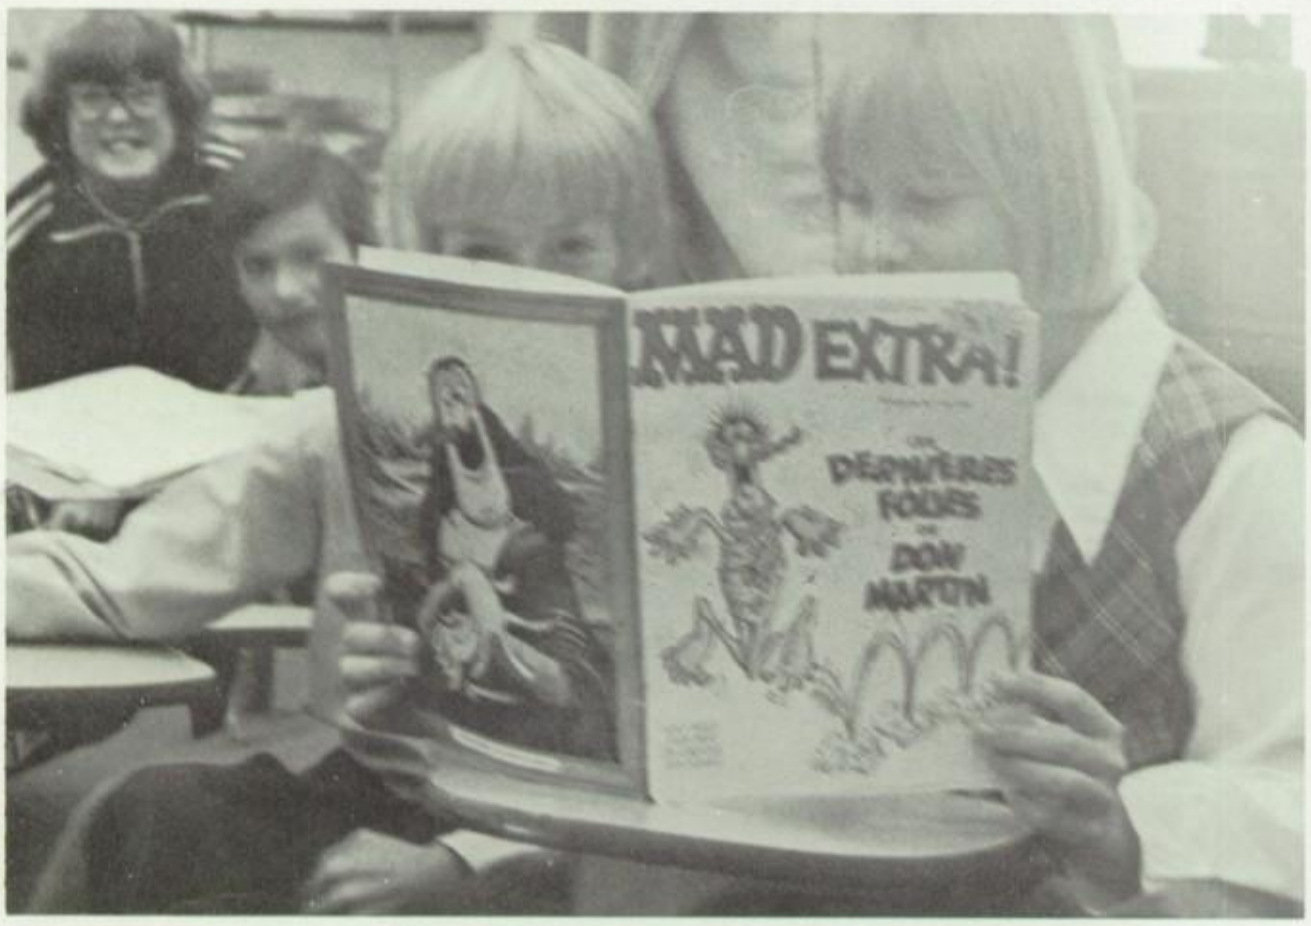
Visual Aids Helped Lower Schoolers Multiply

The Lower Schoolers used everything from cuisenaire rods to dodecahedrons to learn addition, subtraction, multiplication, division and a little bit of geometry. The Kindergartener's main concerns were learning how to draw numbers and how to relate them. The first graders were busy counting to two hundred, and adding and subtracting with cuisenaire rods. The second graders used flash cards to further their knowledge of the addition and subtraction tables. The third grade found making dodecahedrons fun (in case you don't know, dodecahedrons are three dimensional geometric shapes.) The fourth grade had fun holding contests to test their knowledge of the math tables, while the fifth graders found counting in different bases fun.



Foreign Language Night Was A First For Lower School

The Lower School's first Language Night, coordinated by Mr. Rafael Venegas and Mrs. Gail Wheaton, included French and Spanish related projects for the children. Lower Schoolers took part in games, puppet shows, and typical Spanish dances.

In the spring Mr. Venegas' Spanish class presented the popular fairy tale, "Peter and the Wolf."

The Lower School French students learned parts of the body by playing such games as "Jacques Dit" ("Simon Says"). The fourth grade French class learned vocabulary by making their own dictionary. For the letter "a" they studied animals and the different sounds they make in French; for the letter "b" they studied the parts of the bicycle, and the "Tour de France."

LS Science Sampled Biology And Astronomy

The Lower School science program included classes about geology, astronomy, animals, and their environments. They made small scale models of animals' habitats and displayed them in the Lower School atrium. The third grade studied how the moon and other planets revolved around the sun. Mrs. Joan Evans set up a telescope for the fourth graders, but while studying the constellations, they ran into a problem. Since they were unable to study the stars during the day, they used the telescope to look at the surrounding area so that they could understand the use of the instrument. They also learned the parts of the telescope. The fifth graders brought rocks to school to help them in their studies of geology and of the crust of the earth.

Students Created With Crayons, Clay, And Paint

The first through fifth grades spent many hours drawing, painting, and experimenting with color and design. They also constructed clay figures from the world of the circus: elephants, tigers, bears, and clowns. The fourth graders simulated American Indian pottery, which they had studied in Social Science, and displayed them in the Lower School atrium.

At Halloween, the first, second, and third graders decorated the Lower School atrium with witches and goblins. The fifth graders experimented with printmaking techniques and linoleum.

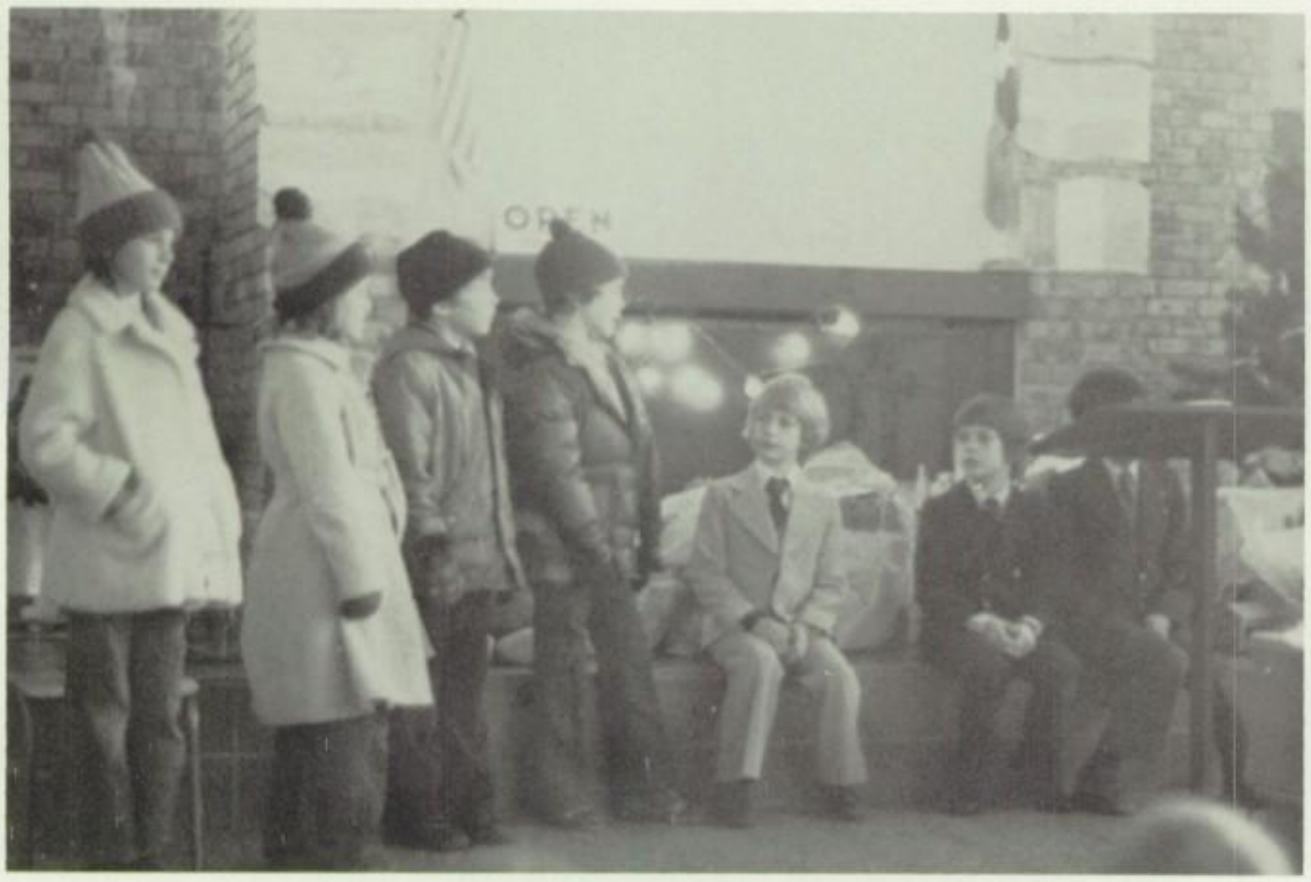
Bottom right: Mrs. Jean Webb teaches her students to play the xylophone to the beat of the piano.

Budding Bachs Experimented With Songs and Strings

The Lower School music program, directed by Mrs. William S. Kilborne, put on two major productions: the Christmas program in December and the May Day program in the spring. For the Christmas program each grade performed an individual choral arrangement. The May Day production consisted mainly of folk dances and songs. While they were not working on a production, the Lower School students worked with rhythm, such as hand clapping, foot stomping and finger snapping. They learned to use orff instruments, which are tuneable percussion instruments such as the xylophone and metalaphone.

The Lower School students also learned the basics of various instruments such as the violin and the flute.



Spooks, Santa, And Cupids Visited The L.S. Atrium

When holidays came to the Lower School, the students got involved with costumes, parties, and contests. Halloween was the first holiday celebrated, with parties, games, refreshments, and prizes for the best costume. The third grade had their annual jack-o-lantern contest and awarded prizes for the best decorated pumpkins.

Christmas turned out to be the most celebrated holiday. The week before school was out, the Lower Schoolers put a tree in the atrium to help bring "tidings of joy." The students brought toys, canned goods, and clothing for needy families. The Lower Schoolers played their musical instruments for the first time in a Christmas musical performance for the parents.

On Valentines day, students traded cards with their sweethearts and friends. Again, each grade had their own party with games and refreshments.

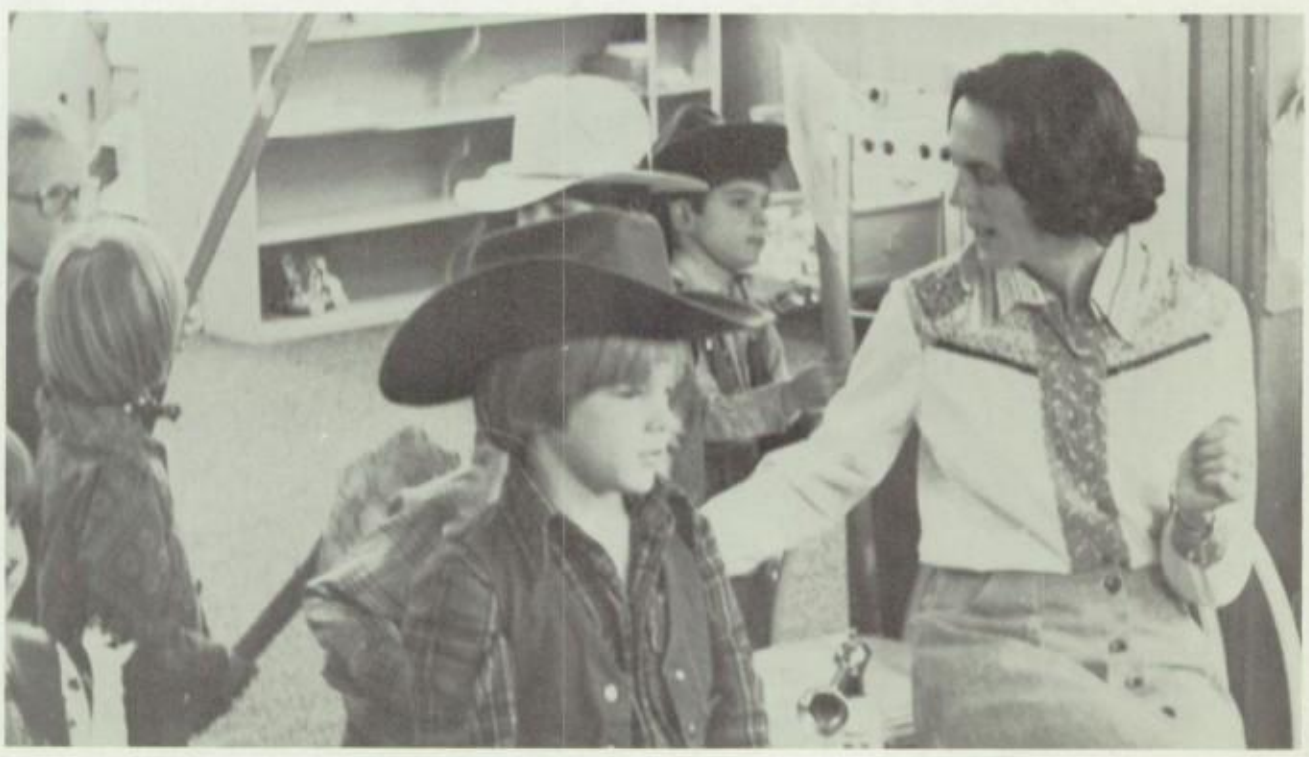
Kindergarteners Balanced, Juggled And Tumbled

When the Shrine Circus visited Fort Worth, Mrs. Melinda Miller and her kindergarteners brought their own version to C.D.S. The morning and afternoon classes both put on successful performances. Stunning costumes made of paper bags and colored paper could be seen at their circus.

Parents and other students watched with delight as these youngsters performed daring feats such as tumbling, tightrope walking with upside-down umbrellas, and juggling. In addition there were fat men, strong men straining their biceps lifting giant tinker toys, lions, elephants, and other animals. The ringmistress in the morning class, Alexa Pace, and ringmaster in the afternoon class, Ty Hoffer, introduced each different act. For a surprising finale, clowns threw confetti everywhere!



Kid Cowpokes Headed 'Em Up And Moved 'Em Out

The Kindergarteners headed up their horses and moved out their cattle for their rodeo on January 27. Their rodeo began with the Grand Entry of all of the participants, riding their stick horses around the classroom arena. Elliot Goldman, in the morning class, and Les Kries, in the afternoon class, kept the show moving at a rapid pace, with their participation as masters of ceremonies.

After the Grand Entry, the cowboys and cowgirls competed in many events. The cowboys wrestled steers and roped calves. The students displayed their courage when they rode wild bucking broncos. Skillful ropers showed off their talents with trick roping. Other contestants also took part in barrel racing and the gaited horses event. For lighter entertainment Mr. Dan Bloch accompanied the cowpokes on his banjo while they sang "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

LSers Performed As Witches And Spacemen

Because of the increase of students in the Lower School, the style of assemblies on Friday morning changed. The kindergarten, first grade, and second grade met together, and the third, fourth, and fifth grades met together.

The assemblies lasted from thirty minutes to an hour, during which time the students entertained one another with recitations of poems, dramatic plays and musicals. Each grade was required to perform during two assemblies.

The first grade recited "Chicken and Rice" and "Over in the Meadow." The second grade recited "The Owl and the Pussycat."

The third grade entertained everyone with their annual talent show, while the fourth grade had a Christmas program with a slide show. "Startrek" and "Nutrition Nightmare" were the fifth grade entertainments.

LS Athletes Prepared For 1988 Olympics

The fledgling athletes in the first thru fifth grades participated in various sports-oriented activities that taught them hand-eye coordination as well as good sportsmanship.

The girls, led by Coaches Jackie Ziegler and Jackie Rea, tumbled to develop coordination. Gymnasts used the balance beam to develop poise. The girls also practiced the essentials of sports in preparation for Middle School. They took a swing, dig, and kick at field hockey, volleyball, and soccer.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

MS English Studied Poems And Prepositions

As they moved from the Lower School, sixth graders faced many new requirements in their English courses, including vocabulary. They read a plethora of books, such as The Old Man and the Sea, Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl, and The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman. To expand their knowledge of the ancient world, they studied the Greek Gods in their mythology unit.

Under the tutelage of Mrs. Nancie Wingo, the seventh graders studied novels such as Lillies of the Field and The Yearling. They even delved into the geographical background of The Yearling by getting pamphlets from the Florida Field and Game Commission.

At the top of the Middle School, eighth graders became media conscious when they studied a newspaper unit. They also enjoyed Jack London's White Fang and The Call of the Wild, while they toiled over their never-ending grammar assignments.

Top right: Bourke Harvey and Stephen Nolan familiarize themselves with the agony of the Writing Guide.

History Students Researched, Wrote And Studied Tut

The eighth grade rushed frantically to turn in their history research papers at the end of the winter term. Mr. Bill Baker felt that the school's library aided the students in writing their papers. Eighth graders spent many class periods consulting sources in the Upper School library.

The Seventh graders enjoyed Coach Dick Stinson's jokes as they traced the history of the United States from the Ice Age to the Civil War. They also learned new and better note taking techniques in order to remember details of the occurrences. sixth graders did an intense study of Greek Mythology in Mrs. Helen Mattiza's history classes. For the first time, the sixth grade students held an Egyptian wedding feast in Mrs. Mattiza's room.

Top: Mrs. Helen Mattiza shows her sixth grade class a picture of the burial mask of King Tut while they study Egyptian history.

Teachers Used Strange Antics As Learning Devices

Miss Emily Forsyth tried a different approach to teaching Spanish to the sixth and seventh graders this year. These students learned the language through commands. The idea behind this method is that small children around the world learn to speak from commands given to them by their families. Some of the commands were a little bizarre, such as "put your nose on the floor" and "touch the sky."

The eighth grade class continued to use their ALM textbooks. For fun, they held their traditional dinner at Joe Garcia's a few weeks before Christmas vacation. The sixth and seventh grade classes also celebrated Christmas with piñata parties.

Center right: Mike Lipscomb, Kirk Dean and Alan Smith find it hard to follow the command to pat their heads and rub their stomachs at the same time.

French Classes Experimented With Food And Games

To vary the use of textbooks, Mrs. Gail Wheaton designed a unique game to quiz her sixth and seventh grade French students. The students threw balls onto a number chart. If the number hit was low, Mrs. Wheaton asked the student an easy question. If it was high, the question was difficult. The students were divided into teams and a running score was kept. In addition sixth and seventh grade learned about French food during "Make a Crepe Day."

Miss Emily Forsyth's eighth grade French students each selected a poem to present orally to the class. For fun, the class held a six course French dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Payne.

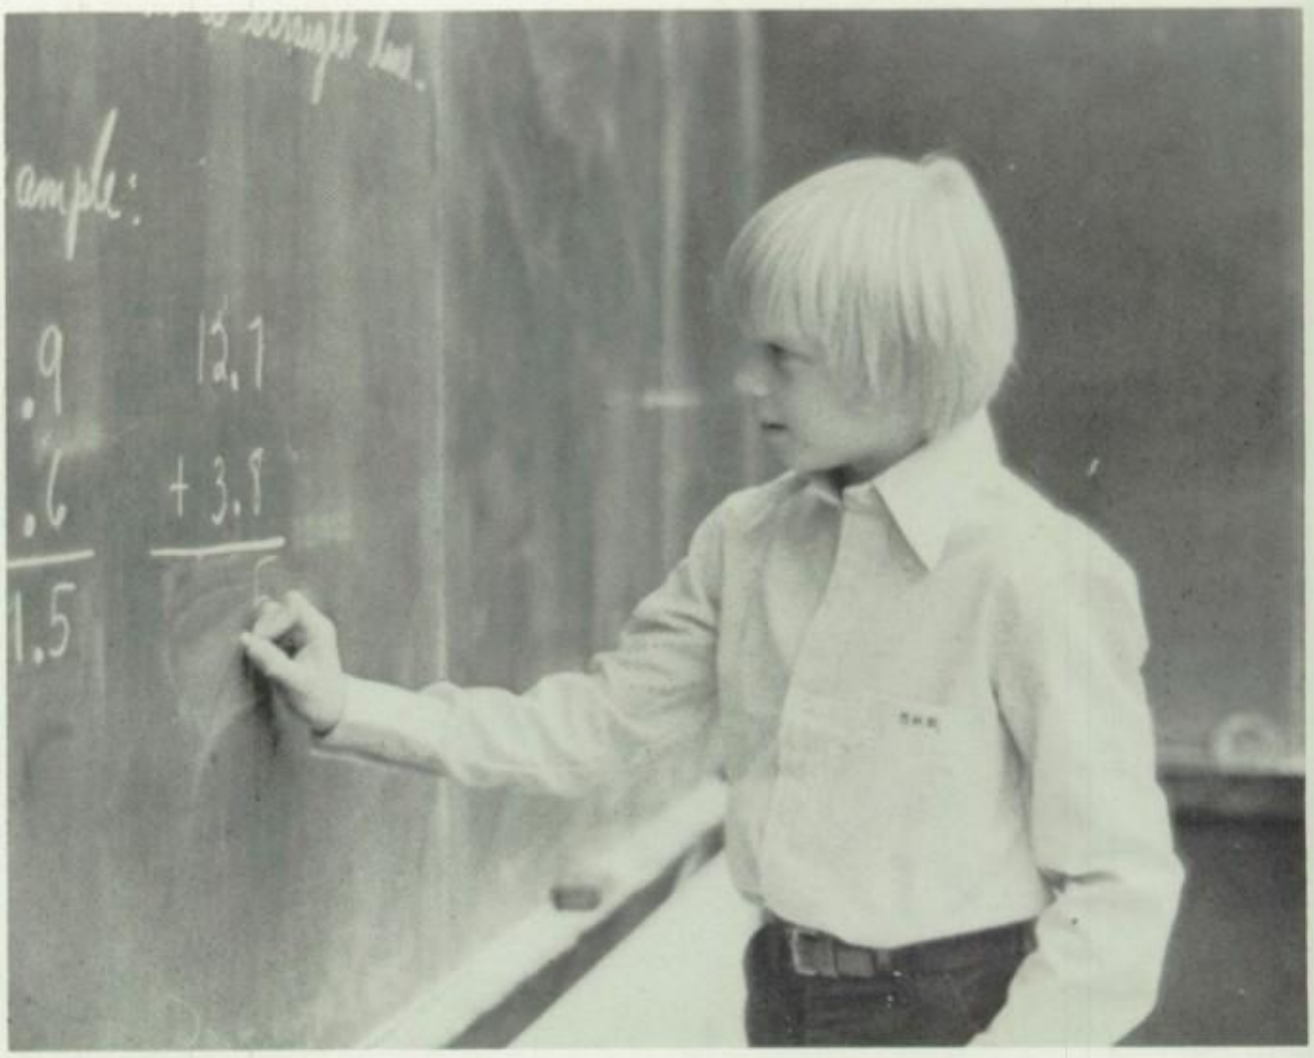
During the Christmas season Mrs. Peggy Wadley's French students studied "Holidays in France" and sang carols. All of the French students celebrated Christmas by eating Buche de Nöel, French cakes shaped like yule logs.

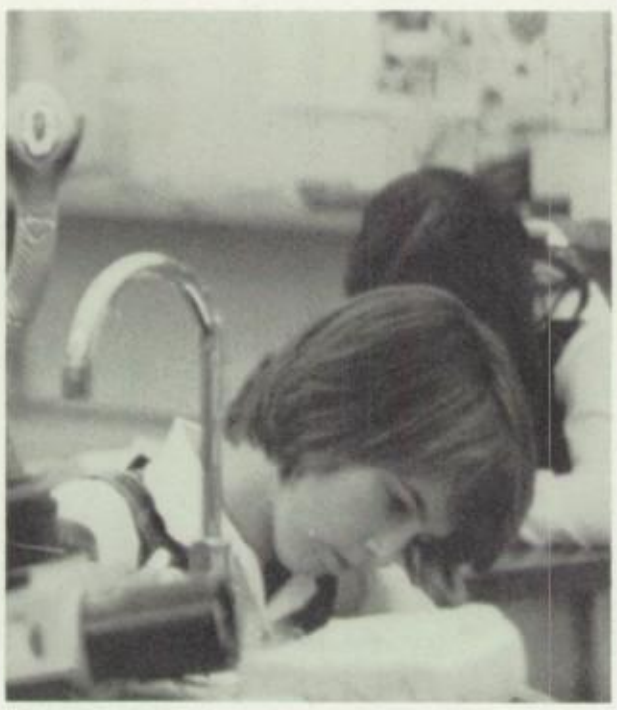
Top: Leslie Webster and her friends play Monopoly in French.
Bottom: Brooke Hyde offers a piece of "Buche de Nöel" to Todd Liles.

Middle School Math Prepared For Algebra

The Middle School Math program emphasized the basics, along with the traditional metrics, geometry, and algebra. To add "a little bit of spice" to Math, Mr. Bob Havens sometimes used an overhead projector (instead of always the "blahs" of the blackboard and book)! The sixth graders did a lot of drawing during the year; you see, they studied Geometry and drew triangles, squares, and circles. The seventh graders learned the metric system and more about measurements. The eighth graders spent their time on first year Algebra, preparing for the tough Upper School program.

Top: Scott Morris works on decimals.
Bottom: Laura Leonard practices measuring angles with the protractor in Geometry.





MSers Dabbled In Physics And Biology

The Middle School students studied many topics, from modular science to sex. The sixth graders worked with light, sound, and space in a process of learning that breaks up a main idea and works up to an understanding of it by taking it piece by piece.

The seventh grade romped across the grounds with a net in pursuit of insects for a bug collection. This was a new experience for them, and in the opinion of some students more fun than a leaf collection would have been. The seventh grade also learned the basics of biology.

The eighth grade biology class dissected fish, rats, and frogs. The rats were skinned and taxidermied. The eighth graders also had a course in sex education. This subject matter caught the attention of all. During the winter and spring terms, the eighth graders had a course in basic physics. They made batteries and used them in many experiments involving mass and momentum.

MS Began First Performing Music Program Ever

The Middle School started a performing music program in September. Mrs. Jan Friedrich conducted the Middle School Orchestra, while woodwind coach, Mr. John Shipley, and brass coach, Mr. Mo Trout, assisted her.

Most of the students were beginners. They performed together for the first time at Christmas. Their next performance was a recital at the end of February for parents and friends. The group also prepared for concerts in the spring.

The orchestra played a variety of pieces during the course of the year. Students preferred playing "Star Wars" and "Fiddler on the Roof" over doing technical exercises. The Middle School Chorus, supported by many students, performed at the Christmas concert, enacting the familiar carol "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

MS Art Classes Experienced A Variety Of Projects

The Middle School art program was varied and challenging, with the two-fold function of clarifying and expanding previous art study and laying the foundation for future art work in the Upper School.

Art was a required subject for the six graders. The classes met twice a week throughout the year. Their activities and projects explored the visual art of drawing, painting, crafts, and printmaking through the use of a variety of techniques and materials. Field trips to local museums correlated with classroom projects.

Seventh graders attended art classes one trimester for five periods a week. These classes stressed color and composition. These basic elements and principles were explored in depth with their applications to drawing, painting, sculpture and crafts.

Creative arts in the eighth grade emphasized continuing growth in perception, design awareness, and visual literacy. Art projects included drawing, ceramics, graphics, sculpture, and fiber fundamentals.

MS Families Hosted Intercambio

In December, Celia Burgos, Gabriela Cortes, Arnoldo Medrano, Claudya Porta, and Yetty Zango came to CDS through an exchange program called Intercambio. The six students from various parts of Central and South America stayed in the United States six to eight weeks, including the Christmas holidays. They learned to speak English more fluently with the help of their host families and the Middle School English teachers. They also acquired knowledge of American ways and customs.

As part of the exchange program, the host students, Michelle Austin, Ginger Durham, Lisa Fanning, Mike Lipscomb, and Ann Turner will visit a Latin-American country this summer.

Halloween And Xmas Were Times To Party Hearty

On October twenty-eighth, Middle School students celebrated Halloween clad in costumes ranging from apes to zookeepers. The Student Council planned the festivities for the day, which consisted of a costume contest and a party at the end of the day. At the party, prizes were given to students sporting the most original outfits, and the Middle Schoolers enjoyed playing various games at each advisor's booth.

At Christmas time, the Middle School students began collecting canned goods for needy families. The Eighth Graders accumulated a total of 826 cans. As a reward for their collection, the eighth grade students were allowed to wear what they wanted on December sixteenth. The Middle Schoolers also observed Christmas with a program given by the Strings and the Chorus. The highlight of the program was the Chorus' rendition of "The Twelve Days of Christmas," in which members were dressed as the gifts given by "the True Love."

MS Volleyball Put All Their Skills Together

The MS Volleyball team was full of enthusiasm and fire. Eighth graders led the team with strong support from seventh and sixth graders. All six players on the court were equally talented. For the first time, the MS worked on setting up plays. There were two setters and four spikers. The team emerged 8-1 in conference play. Not many teams could stand up to the batter of their spikes. The team also worked on overhead serves for the first time. They developed good hard serves that were difficult to return. Even though they worked on added frills, the main emphasis was on basics. The team worked on bumps and moving their feet. The girls did lots of running and general exercising. They worked on increasing their jumping ability for spikes and dinks, too. All the hard work paid off as they had their "winningest season" ever.

MS Field Hockey Grew Stronger In Great Season

The Middle School Field Hockey team played only three games, but they soundly beat their opponents Trinity Valley and Greenhill.

The girls complained loudly about sprints and drills, but this conditioning proved essential for their winning season. Cries of "If you're losing, kill 'em!" and "Get "em, babes!" echoed during practices and game situations from Coaches Jackie Ziegler and Lynne Loeffler.

Although seventh graders made up the majority of the team, eighth graders Marty Mercer and Melissa Miteff contributed much to the successful season.

MS Football Tied For Top Trophy In T.I.S.C.

The Middle School football team finished with a tremendous 9-2 record. Having had only one conference loss, the Falcons wound up in a tie with Fort Worth Christian Academy for first place in T.I.S.C. Captains Steve "Redhead" Nolan, Jeff Posey, Robert Simon, Andy Bonnet, and Jeffrey Garner led the team into battle. Each one acted as game captain at some point.

The Falcons once again proved that defense is the name of the game. Linebackers Steve Nolan, Andy Bonnet and Chris Lord, safety Jeff Posey and nose guard Robert Simon headed up the defense squad.

The offense played equally well, with an abundance of running backs. The offensive standouts were running backs Steve Nolan, Andy Bonnet, Mike Beckman and Jeff Posey; linemen Jeffrey Garner and Marshall Williams, and Quarterback Phillip Perez.

MS B'Ball Improved With New Coach, Don Sanford

The Middle School Basketball team's season was one of improvement. The team was basically inexperienced, with the exception of Andy Bonnet, who is the only returning starter from last year's team. Bonnet, along with Mark Truvillion and Robert Albers were the leading scorers. Bonnet and Truvillion also held the rebounding honors.

The Falcons lost four of their first five games. They had talent, but the team just couldn't seem to get it together. The team finally became powerful, and able to work together. As the season wound down, the Falcons won more than they lost. The man responsible for this was Don Sanford. The Class of '76 alumnus brought in fresh ideas. Last in a line of five coaches, Don was able to bring the team together and build them into a group that will be hard to beat next season.

MS Girls Basketball Played Five-Man

Because of the switch to five man basketball, the Middle School Girls Basketball team suffered one and two losses throughout the season. The whole conference changed to conventional basketball, so they could play public school girls' teams, who were changing so both boys and girls basketball would be more uniform. Trinity Valley, Fort Worth Christian, Dallas Christian, Greenhill and Irma Marsh gave the team enough trouble to make the difference between a couple of points.

To try to improve their record the girls started new drills. One was the "fastbreak" drill for speed and rebounding. The other was the "five-star" drill for passing. The girls ran all the drills at game speed to prepare them for the necessary endurance during games. If they didn't "hustle," the girls heard Coach Jackie Ziegler cry the familiar "Game speed or two laps!"

The girls weren't especially optimistic about the switch to five man basketball, but with practice and encouragement they dealt with it. Exceptional players, such as Brenda Beaupré and Marty Mercer, encouraged the team when they were down. Brenda Beaupré and Marty Mercer scored the most points and had the most "hustle."

MS Girl's Soccer Went Undefeated in 77-78 Season

Despite the bad weather, the Middle School girl's soccer team had a good, successful season. The undefeated team, coached by Mrs. Jackie Rea, played three games against other Ft. Worth-Dallas schools. Two of the victories were won against Trinity Valley, while the third was a trounce against Greenhill. The Middle School "A" team consisted of twenty-three girls, mainly eighth graders. The soccer team practiced during the regular sports period, but got additional game experience during scrimmages against the Upper School girl's "B" team. The outcome of the two Upper School scrimmages prophesies a good incoming Freshman team next year. The Middle Schoolers beat the "B" team once, 1-0, and tied them in a second hard-fought game, 0-0.

MS Soccer Experienced Inconsistent Season

The Middle School Soccer team had a frustrating season. The team welcomed a new coach, Tom Brock. Coach Brock was put in charge of the "B" team while head coach Dick Stinson coached the "A" team. The "A" team was made up of a lot of eighth graders, some seventh graders, and a few sixth graders.

The "A" team was a victim of hard luck and bad preparation. Just as the long stretch of big games was about to begin, Goalie Scott Paulsel got pneumonia. The Falcons were left without an experienced team member for this most vital position. Jeff Posey, Mike Beckman, and Steve Nolan led the offensive attack, helping the Falcons achieve their good season record. Players Reese Hillard, Kenny Fischer, and Guy Holland contributed to the team spirit, and will carry on to pull together good teams for upcoming seasons.

UPPER SCHOOL

English Students Studied Love, Death And Fantasy

Upper School students again confronted the plague of the Writing Guide and Mr. William S. Kilborne's marathon sessions on Saturday. This year the English department added interesting new courses: Literature of Death, Elizabethian Poetry, and Study in Power. The English department spared some students sleepless nights with their new vocab policy: students had the option of having the teachers give them a list of words or they, themselves, could select them. "Literature of Death" students attended a funeral as a new and somewhat unusual requirement for their course. Ms. Anne Robinson and Ms. Norma Wilkerson moved up; at last Mr. Kilborne trusted them to teach his renowned semantics course.

US History Explored Wars, Government, And Diplomacy

Freshmen and sophomores struggled to learn the details of the French Revolution, the Middle Ages, and the World Wars in the lower level history courses taught by Mr. Ted Sanford and Mr. Will Stansbery. The students rushed frantically to take notes during lectures, and often could not read what they had written. Dr. Ford Dixon's U.S. history classes proved to be difficult for the juniors and even some seniors. Advanced Placement students prepared for their exams by sharing wild stories and lollipops with Dr. Dixon.

The Upper School students and a few eighth graders received a special treat in December. Mr. Gordon Hall, a well known speaker on extremist parties, came to C.D.S. and presented his views. Mr. Hall lectured to the A.P. class and enthralled them with his knowledge of the extremist groups.

Spanish Speaking And Feasting Intrigued Students

Mr. Robert D. Adams developed a new method to review vocabulary with his Spanish students. The classes divided into two teams. A member of one team drew a word and tried to make his team guess it by describing the word in Spanish. At the end of the term the losing team took the winners to dinner.

Mr. Rafael Venegas' Spanish students were involved in competition. In preparation for the city wide Language Fair held at CDS on April 8, the students memorized poems, skits, prose and dramatic presentations.

The Spanish department acquired a new Spanish teacher, Mrs. Peggy Wadley. Mrs. Wadley attempted to make Spanish become real and live for her students by having them study elements of Spanish culture. Students reported on the history of the bullfight and ancient Indian civilization.

French Students Prepared For Language Fair

Besides doing textbook exercises, Mrs. Claire-Lise Knecht's French class wrote and presented commercials, poems and skits.

In the fall the advanced placement students presented part of a seventeenth century play.

The students prepared a variety of offerings for the Language Fair in the spring, such as dialogues and poem recitation. Ms. Nancy Pratt's class presented original skits for the judges. Ms. Pratt's students began writing to pen pals in France this year, in order to learn something about the culture of French teenagers.

All of the classes held their traditional French dinners: one at the new crêperie, The Magic Pan, and the gala evening at the Old Swiss House.

The A.P. girls "studied" especially hard by learning the meaning of every dish on the menu through trial and error.

Upper School Math Got Back To The Basics

The Upper School's Math Department moved "back to the basics." After attending a convention in Austin, centered on the concept, Mrs. Cheryl Sconyers, department chairman, designed a Basic Skills Test. — How did it get that name? — its purpose was to test the students' abilities and disabilities in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division (thank goodness there weren't any of those word problems!) Most of the students passed, but those who didn't attended workshops for their deficiencies.

New teachers, Mrs. Martha Sloan and Mr. Frank Johnson, taught Algebra courses. Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Sconyers and Keith Jones put theory into practice by using the school's computer for basketball and baseball statistics. Ms. Lynne Loeffler, another new teacher, taught a course in Geometry in her time off from girls' sports. Mrs. Laura Ferguson held a workshop the week before S.A.T.'s to jog everyone's memory of their past Algebra and Geometry courses.

Orchestra And Glee Club Appeared In Fine Arts Programs

Ms. Jan Friedrich became head of the Music Department and initiated a completely new program for F.W.C.D.S. In September, Ms. Friedrich found herself surrounded with varying degrees of instrumentalists. Beginners, students who had not played in years, and advanced students were lumped together to form one Upper School Orchestra. The task was difficult, but by Christmas time the Orchestra performed a successful concert.

In order to aid the students to excel quickly, the Music Department divided the Orchestra into sections. In the Upper School building one could occasionally hear blaring trumpets from Mr. Mo Trout's brass section. Mr. John Shipley led the woodwinds Monday through Thursday, while Ms. Friedrich led the strings group. On Fridays the Orchestra met and played together.

The Glee Club comprised another section of the Music Department. The Glee Club performed for the first time at the Christmas concert. They sang as a group of townspeople in the Production of Our Town. The club also worked for the spring musical Little Mary Sunshine.

Creativity Abounded In New Art Room

The Fine Arts double period allowed all the students to work for greater lengths of time on their various projects. As a result many students participated in independent projects. The huge, glassed-in room facilitated the meeting of several classes simultaneously. Four different classes could meet and work at the same time, a drastic improvement in the learning atmosphere from the old, cramped art room in the gym. Mrs. Sue Smith taught weaving while Mrs. Lelia Koeppe conducted a class in copper enameling and ceramics.

The most exciting event for the Art Department was the grand move to the new art room. All the teachers were excited about the openness of the large room and the abundance of light. The size of the room proved to be a major advantage because students were able to work on their projects while other classes met. Painting students no longer had to paint "on their laps," but were able to leave their easels set up.

"Our Town" Inaugurated Theater

Mr. Al Viola, head of the new Fine Arts Department, directed the fourtieth anniversary production of Our Town in January. The American classic by Thornton Wilder was the first production of its kind held at F.W.C.D.S. Its opening, though delayed because of snow, celebrated the completion of the Fine Arts Complex.

The three performances of Our Town boasted a large cast which included actors, the Chorus, prop people and the technical crew. The entire cast and crew totaled almost one hundred students.

Our Town deals with a young couple's love, which ends abruptly when the girl, Emily, dies. The play has been called a celebration of life, death and dying.

Everyone involved with the Drama Department was excited by the completion of the new theatre, and felt that Our Town was a great way to begin a budding drama program.

U.S. Science Varied To Meet Students Needs And Interests

Even though the name for Freshman science was changed, the smell was still the same. Changing from "I.P.S." to "Basic Principles," the Freshmen studied basic chemistry, scientific processes, and the characteristic properties of substances.

Biology I remained the same, as students studied everyting from fetal pigs to the sex life of a pinecone.

Chemistry students discovered that there was another type of mole besides the furry little burrowing creature.

Biology II had a small, intimate class that could often be seen frantically studying in the Senior Lounge for another one of their tests.

On top of their already heavy load, Physics students had to create and perform their own physics project.

Teachers as well as students welcomed the return of Mr. Maurice Salminen, who taught a new course dealing with modern applications of scientific processes.

Flight 78 Soared To New Heights

The Flight 78 staff began preparation early in July to lay the ground work for what they hoped would be an exciting yearbook. Elizabeth Beier and Rob Hundley, the editors, attended a yearbook seminar at U.T.A. They won second prize for their yearbook design.

Two photographers, Linc Conn and Alden McKay, also attended the workshop to prepare them for the rigorous task that awaited them. Linc took first place for his work in photography.

Staffers appreciated the addition of Advisor Trainee, Mrs. Laura Ferguson, to the group. As always, Mr. Milton Atebara and his able staff of photographers met the yearbook deadlines in spite of "lost" and "misplaced" negative and contact sheets.

Kay Anderson and her army of ads sellers somehow sold more ads than ever before to help offset the ever increasing costs of publishing the yearbook.

Everyone on the staff discovered that time was the enemy. Because the school did not schedule yearbook as in the previous years, staffers constantly struggled with the problem of communication and deadlines.

Students Awaited The Arrival Of The Quill

Because of hard work (and lots of it), Quill editor, George Young, and his assistant editors Janet Maberry and Ken McKenzie maintained strong journalistic standards on the school paper. The business manager, Karen McKenzie, and chief photographer, Peter Courtney, also contributed to the success of the paper with their persistent work towards meeting deadlines.

The staff of the 77-78 Quill introduced changes for the better. For example, they added color to the paper by printing the masthead in red and the rest of the paper in blue. Another addition was a full page entitled "Photo Trivia."

The staff reserved this page for photographs, serious and comic — mostly the latter. Movie critic Alan Settle wrote very thorough and quite informative reviews.

"Doc" Ford Dixon added a special touch to the paper as he resumed his role as faculty advisor.

CDS Revived Homecoming After Nine Years

A knobby-kneed, yellow falcon (Coach Stinson) prophesied the events of Homecoming Week, the first at C.D.S. in nine years. Everyone got into the spirit clad in the school colors on "Red and Blue Day."

The traditional "flaming letters" pep rally took place the night before the big game. Cheerleaders led students in cheers as the letters "F.W.C.D." burned in the background.

School spirit reached its peak as Falcon fans crowded into the stadium to see the game against Wichita Collegiate. The Falcons were victorious with a score of 60 to 14.

The Homecoming Week came to a close with the formal dance at Rivercrest Country Club. "Coconuts" played for the students, parents, teachers, and alumni in the ballroom decorated with white chrysanthemums. Coach Bobby Flettrich's speech reviewing the football season was the high point of the evening. Coach Flettrich, on behalf of the football team, presented necklaces to the cheerleaders and roses to Mrs. Cynthia Falls for their great pep rallies and enthusiastic devotion.

Upper School Student Council "Did it Better"

Under the superivision of advisor, Ms. Anne Robinson, and the leadership of president, Ken McKenzie, the Student Council represented the students well, and initiated new money making projects. The council met weekly to discuss trivial problems like the Coke machines, Commons area litter, and fund raising techniques.

The year began early for the Student Council, as they set up a new format for the judiciary committee. The new format including extensive screening for prospective members. After conquering this project, the Student Council began planning the first Homecoming in several years. A successful dance concluded the homecoming weekend. In January, the Council proposed a different money-making project: bumper stickers. The stickers were red and blue, with the motto, "Falcons Do It Better." Further projects included a Western Day.

CDS Filled The Halls With Holiday Cheer

Green and red leotards, gifts, and a tree expressed the Christmas spirit of the Upper School. The tree looked bare until the Junior girls went to work on it with brightly colored paper chains and three-dimensional stars. On that day there was a strange odor about the school. The halls smelled as if someone had been eating taffy and candy canes. In classes, people had parties, sang Christmas carols, presented skits, and in some classes, even took tests(!). A visit from Santa Claus, with his "ho ho ho's" and gifts of candy, made the day complete.

Later in the term, on February 14, students exchanged kisses, candy, and valentines to celebrate Valentine's Day. Again red leotards appeared in the attire of the day for some girls. People bought singing telegrams, cookie-grams and super-dooper-grams from the Junior girls. The money raised from this activity helped to pay for the Junior dances.

C.D.S. Hosted Osamu And Initiated Intercambio

Rob Hundley hosted Osamu Fujiwara, from Matsuyama, Japan, a city about the same size and latitude as Fort Worth. In August, Osamu worked at the Kimbell Art Museum, taking pictures of the Nō robes. He visited other schools and spoke for many civic and church groups.

The AFS program was in full swing this year. With the help of the AFS birthday cake sales and the International Dinner, enough money was raised to host an exchange student for the first time in two years.

Country Day was also privileged to host two short-term exchange students. Marcelo Alvarado, from Leon, Nicaragua, stayed with Todd Kolba. Alfredo Alfane from Santa Anna, El Salvador, lived with Victor McCall. Both Marcelo and Alfredo enjoyed the weather and rock music (Queen and The Commodores.)

Cheerleaders Kept Spirit High With Rallies And Yells

Everyone knew the cheerleaders were different when they did a hand routine at football camp. How different they couldn't tell. It all started at cheerleading camp. The girls were busy from 7:30 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. In the nightly competition, they won two second and two first place ribbons. They also won the spirit stick, a first for CDS. After the hand routine, the cheerleaders followed with some super pep rallies.

They planned these rallies:: Coach Stinson's tall tale, the T.V. coach's pep talk, a visit to the galaxy "snoclaf," nursery rhyme day, junior boys' cyclone escapade, and the "defeet" of the Lions. The boys gave the girls something to cheer about. The seniors, complete with suits, presented roses to the cheerleaders; the junior boys decorated the girls' rooms; the entire team gave each cheerleader an initialed gold necklace. The year was full of spirit and enthusiasm. The pep rallies had never been so loud or the feeling of unity so high. The spirit plus the talent proved to be the winning combination.

Field Hockey Hit, Flicked, Scooped And Rolled

The field hockey team braved the sweltering sun of August to begin getting in shape. Under the watchful eyes of Ms. Jackie Ziegler and Ms. Lynne Loeffler, the girls did calisthenics, ran sprints, and participated in demanding drills, such as the "triangle shooting drill." Echoes of "Ziggy, not around the pond — those geese always attack us!" and "Let's scrimmage!" reverberated about the field.

The team took several out-of-town trips, aided by the travelling manager, Laura Miller. The girls cooled off in the hotel pool after a hard game in Tulsa, and enjoyed the antics of the "Cherry Hill High'' girls in Dallas. At the Hockaday games, the ''B'' team mimicked the Daisies' pep squad — ''We're hot. And you're not!'' and ''Tee Hee Hee.'' The Country Day girls also began the field hockey ''glee club'' at the S.P.C. Tournament in Dallas.

Although the team did not win every game, notably the fight against the Casady Amazons, they had a good season. With the help of ''Rhino'' Maberry, ''Bubbles'' Olcott, and ''Vavoom'' Wareham, the team placed third in T.I.S.C. and second in S.P.C.

Captains Susan Olcott and Beth Wareham gave strong leadership to a team consisting mainly of underclassmen.

The girls celebrated their season with a dinner party at the Olcott's, where they ate spaghetti and presented ''Ziggy'' with an engraved necklace for her great coaching.

V'ballers Grabbed Second Place In T.I.S.C. And S.P.C.

Coach Cynthia Falls started practices two weeks before school, working in all kinds of innovative exercises like the moon walk, and the doggie exercise. The girls breathed a sigh of thanks that the boys were out playing football when they performed these unlady-like escapades. Drills, another of Coach Falls' favorite pastimes, included her standing on a ladder and hurling balls at the players' reddened arms. During the spiking drills, Coach Falls cried, "Is the ball high enough now, Kathy?" and Lisa and Melissa complained, "But I'm not tall enough to spike!" The girls worked to improve their one weak point, serving, by practicing serve after serve. When the end of practice seemed in sight, Coach Falls would say, "Now, go serve some while you're tired." Only Lauren Schmuck could consistently pound the other side of the court. Coach Will Stansbery and Coach Bill Baker stepped in for Coach Falls when the latter was ill. The two coaches worked on reflexes by throwing balls close to the girls' feet for them to dive for. In addition, left-handed Coach Stansbery helped southpaw Stacy Walker improve her spiking position. The team, although young, placed second in T.I.S.C. and S.P.C. under captains Dayna Capper and Ann Snyder.

Football Was Unrivaled, Unchallenged, Undefeated!

In mid-August, after seven long months of conditioning, the '77 edition of Falcon football left for camp with the expectation of a championship season. The Falcons began their long drive under the leadership of four-year head coach Bob Flettrich. After a week of "two-a-days," camp ended with "Judge Roy Bean" and Skit Night.

The following day, the player's began a long schedule with a scrimmage against Nolan. New talented members, as well as the seventeen returning starters, had the chance to show their "stuff."

The Falcons started the regular season with Holland Hall. The Falcons won decisively, 20-0.

In the next game, the Falcons played cross-town rival, Trinity Valley. The Falcons proved superior by winning, 46-8. After this victory, the Falcons whomped Cistercian, winning with ease, 49-0. The next victory would definitely not come as easily, because the Falcons faced Fort Worth Christian. After the dust had cleared, the mighty Falcons won once again, 23-0. George Carter's 57 yard field goal — third longest in Texas schoolboy football — highlighted the game.

After defeating their toughest T.I.S.C. foe, the team could easily have let up. However, Coach Flettrich reminded them that in order to go undefeated, they had always to win the next game and not look ahead to St. Marks. The next two weeks proved successful as the Falcons won the T.I.S.C. championship by defeating Greenhill, 37-14, and Dallas Christian, 32-12.

After the Dallas Christian game, the Falcons confronted Casady in mud and driving rain. The weather slowed down the potent offense, but the great defense shone as C.D.S. won, 13-0. All the Falcons had to do the next week was beat or tie Wichita Collegiate, and they would win their second championship of the season. The Falcons did more than that — they trounced the Spartans, 60-14. This victory psychologically primed Country Day for the St. Marks game.

The Falcons — out for revenge — mercilessly trampled St. Marks, 33-14. Coach Flettrich could single out no one individual responsible for the super game, calling the results a team victory won by Country Day's best team to date.

Captains John Boswell, Joe Breedlove, Dee Kelly and George Young led the triumphant Falcons through the season. An incredible 18 players earned All-T.I.S.C. and All-S.P.C. honors.

Falcon Team Effort Achieved Top Spot In Both Leagues

The Falcons stormed to a 9-0 record, winning two championships, and placing 18 players on all-conference teams. On the All-T.I.S.C. team, the Falcons put eight men on offense and two on defense. While on All-S.P.C., they placed seven men on offense and nine on defense.

The offense was led by Joe Breedlove, who rushed for 1,294 yards, and running mate Kyle Claunch, who rushed for 1,195 yards. Dee Kelly hit on 55% of his passes for over 600 yards. These great figures could not have been achieved without the offensive line: Steve Relyea, David Sanford, John Boswell, Tim Williams, Linc Conn, and Ben Fortson.

The defense was outstanding the entire season. George Young led tackles with 81, while Charlie Hankins and Scott Landers finished close to the lead. In interceptions, Steve Washuta finished with seven, Robert Dickerson with five, and Ned Fleming with four.

Overall the Falcons scored 313 points and allowed only 62 points to be scored against them. Captains John Boswell, Joe Breedlove, Dee Kelly, and George Young led the triumphant Falcons through the season.

Perhaps the most influential person behind the season's success was Coach Bob Flettrich. Coach Flettrich served as the cog to make the team roll, making this season's fantastic record possible. Over four years Coach Flettrich compiled one of the best records in the city's history, 34-5-0, the '77 record contributing in no small part. At the end of the season, the team learned that Coach Flettrich would resign, only to move on to the position of Athletic Director of St. Martin's Episcopal School in Louisiana. The '77 football team thanks Coach Flettrich for his leadership and dedication in building the finest football program in the school's history, and wishes him as much success in his new position.

Girls Cross Country Teamed With Boys For Good Season

The cross country runners began early in August, preparing for the '77 season. The boys ran forty to fifty miles per week on the five courses located on or near the C.D.S. campus. The team, coached by Mr. Milton Atebara, although young and dominated by freshmen and sophomores, ended with a good record. The season proved successful for individual runners: each runner lowered his time in the two mile run.

The girls cross country team, a new girl's sport, coached by Mrs. Jan Friedrich, captured third place in S.P.C. The girls worked out with the boy's team, running on the track and along the bicycle paths.

Scott Nowlin ran consistently well in each meet, usually finishing in one of the top three places. He also received All-Conference in S.P.C. and T.I.S.C. Adrienne Stocker came out as the outstanding girl runner, getting All-Conference in S.P.C.

Wrestling Program Was Alive And Well At Country Day

The wrestling program at Country Day became more pronounced this season. The wrestlers received training from their new head coach, Mr. Joe Murph, a student at T.C.U. Mr. Murph taught the wrestlers the basic take-down, break-down, and pinning moves they would be using in meets. He also taught them the basic countering moves.

With one exception, all of the wrestlers had little or no experience. The one exception, Stephon Breedlove, helped the team greatly. Stephon wrestled with the Fort Worth Wrestling Club before coming to Country Day.

The team still did not have a full complement of twelve weight classes. This ruined their chances to win any tournaments but did not hamper the boys' enthusiasm. Toward the end of the season the boys realized that wrestling was here to stay, when KXAS-TV did a report on Stephon's wrestling.

Girl's B'Ball Brought Home Silver Trophy

Girl's basketball won first place in the second division of SPC. The season started with a good omen — the first game against Lake Worth. After practicing together only one day, the week of finals, the Falcons mutilated the mighty Bullfrogs with a score of 51 to 32.

The girls played in the Boyd Tournament and learned a few underhanded tricks from the rural schools. The games were rough but the tenacious Falcons survived the ordeal with only minor casualties. They walked away from the tourney with two losses, but a lot of experience to work with.

Coach Bill Baker took advantage of Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations to whip into shape the poor people who stayed in town. There was lots running with the ball, follow the leader and Coach Baker's own invention — the ominous "all four thingy." The "all four thingy" consisted of each girl getting into the awkwardest of positions with feet and hands both on the floor and scrambling as best she could in the direction of Coach Baker. Needless to say, the boy's basketball team loved this drill.

North Zone SPC was a disappointment. The Dutchmen trounced the Falcons in their first game. During the second game, Casady won by one point in a heartbreaker. In the last one against Wichita Collegiate, the Falcons won handily, but unfortunately landed in second division anyway.

Undaunted, the girls worked hard for the next two weeks on new plays, like the intricate #4, a series of pick and rolls, and individual weaknesses. It paid off in the end, because the team brought home the silver plastic to add to the trophy case.

Falcon B'Ball Brought Home The Silver

The boy's varsity basketball team started out the season as strongly as they expected. They had seven returning lettermen, and all five of last year's starters. The Falcons hoped to accomplish an almost impossible feat of going undefeated in all of their thirty-two games. Experience, talent, and speed were factors they hoped would help them reach their goal.

Since the Falcons were not an exceptionally tall team, Coach Will Stansbery established a "run and gun" offense. The team often used the "zone" and "man-to-man press" to gain the lead over their opponents.

The Falcon team had many impressive victories and won several tournaments early in the season. They started off winning the Trinity Christian tournament. Next the Falcons travelled to Boyd. In the process of winning that tournament, the Falcons defeated Krum, a team ranked second in the state, in class B. A third tourney took place in Houston, where the basketball team defeated

St. Johns and Wichita Collegiate to "take the silver."

Due to the hard work and dedication of all the players, the Falcons were strong in all areas of play. Ned Fleming took rebounding honors for the Falcons, while Joe Breedlove led in assists and steals. Dee Kelly was the high scorer, followed by Steve Washuta who was injured late in the season and missed several games. Others who excelled on the varsity team were Robbie Kelley, Doug Woodson, David Olson, and Ben Fortson.

The Falcons had good depth on the bench with Steve Relyea, Edmund Schenecker, George Mercer, Brad Tribble, Jimmy Fleming, and David Dunham. With the experience gained this season, next year's team should be potent.

The varsity did not keep their promise of going undefeated, but they brought home the T.I.S.C. and S.P.C. titles, with only one defeat each in T.I.S.C. and S.P.C. In S.P.C. the Falcons shared the championship honors with Casady. Joe Breedlove, Ned Fleming, and Dee Kelly earned first team all-conference honors in S.P.C. The Falcons finished 29-3 for the season, a school record.

B'Ball Team Took S.P.C. And T.I.S.C. Titles

The Falcons opened their season in November with a scrimmage against the Paschal varsity basketball team, when they lost by one. They played their first home game against Lake Worth. They routed Lake Worth twice and then continued to beat First Baptist.

The Falcons traveled to Boyd next and walked off with first place. Doug Woodson and Joe Breedlove were voted to the all-tournament team.

In December, the team started off winning the Trinity Christian Tournament. Dee Kelly was voted MVP and Joe Breedlove made the all-tournament team.

The Falcons played a hard fought battle with Carter Riverside and narrowly lost by four. However, the Falcons had a rematch, and won by thirteen points. The Falcons' rematch with First Baptist, however, proved to be a worse defeat for the red team than in the first game.

During Christmas, the varsity travelled to St. Johns for a tournament. The Falcons beat St. Johns and Wichita Collegiate to win the tournament. Ned Fleming and Dee Kelly received all-tournament honors.

The Falcons had a close game with St. Marks, winning by three points. They then experienced an eight game winning streak, beating Trinity Valley, Greenhill, Cistercian, Dallas Christian and Fort Worth Christian. Several close games such as the one with Trinity Valley spurred the team into action.

North Zone S.P.C. took place at Wichita Collegiate. The Falcons opened against Holland Hall, a team noted for their slow play. Holland Hall could not run with the Falcons, and were soundly defeated. In the next game Casady came out stalling the ball, a tactic not previously used against the Falcons. Casady won by five. The same afternoon, The Country Day team beat Wichita Collegiate, to keep alive their first division hopes.

After returning home, Country Day beat St. Marks to assume a first division position in SPC. The Falcons were in for another defeat, at the hands of Dallas Christian. If the team had won, they could have taken TISC undefeated. Next the Falcons defeated Cistercian soundly and began to look ahead to winter SPC. In winter SPC, Country Day beat Kinkaid, St. Johns and Trinity Valley to take co-championship honors with Casady.

The Country Day girls soccer team braved rain, snow, sleet, and hail to practice, with their fearless leader, Colonel "Rocky" Rosacker. Assistant Coaches Jackie Rea and Lynne Loeffler kept warm with snow suits and galoshes. They helped the "B" team become quite adept at passing and trapping.

Despite frequent cries of "There's another ball in the lake!" "My warmup is stuck on my head!" and "Colonel, not another sprint!" the team had a good season. With the help of captains Leslie "Borris" Watson, Janet "Rhino" Maberry, and Beth "Aye, Kevin" Wareham, the team kept its losses to a minimum. The girls also experienced excruciating last minute ties with Hockaday, Casady, and Trinity Valley.

The team decided to join the "Ice Capades" after the Hockaday game, where the girls were cut to bits by the glass-like ice. Since Colonel vetoed long underwear, the girls resorted to four pairs of pantyhose. After the Greenhill game, played in a field with standing water, the team voted to change their name to the "Amphibians." Adverse weather conditions did not stop Lauren Schmuck and her ambidextrous feet from scoring several penalty shots. Susan "Monkey" Hart, Paula "Zube" Zubieta, and Sarah "The Pump" Pumphrey used their "Pelé skills" to help the team make points.

The girls ended their regular season with a record of two wins, one loss, and four ties.

Young Boys' Soccer Team Fell Short Of Goal

In spite of adverse weather conditions, the Falcon soccer team compiled an 8-8-3 record. Inexperience proved to be the Falcon's worst enemy. With only five returning starters, the team began rebuilding a new line-up in early November. Before the season ended, seven underclassmen were starting.

The season began with impressive 3-2 victories over Nolan and Western Hills. The first conference game came against Selwyn, with the Falcons coming out on top, 3-0. In the next game, the Falcons were destroyed by a much more mature team, Jesuit. Rather than falling apart, the Falcons proved their resiliency with Mike Bueschel's hat trick, blowing Trinity Valley apart, 3-0. In the next four games, the Falcons tied the tough teams Greenhill and Cistercian, and lost to St. Marks and Holland Hall.

The Falcons then put together one of the best winning streaks in the school's history. Behind an unpredictable offense and a potent defense, the Falcons won four games and tied one. The Falcons took on Selwyn in a defensive game. Even though the offense was unable to score, the defense refused to break, and a 0-0 score resulted. The Falcons then faced a new team, Bishop Lynch, coming out on top, 2-0. With momentum building, the team faced Trinity Valley once again. They blitzed the Trojans, 6-0, due to two goals each by David Corley, Sherman Young, and Mike Bueschel. Then the Falcons finished their winning streak by defeating Greenhill, 1-0, and Casady, 2-1.

The Falcons faces St. Marks next, and suffered a heartbreaking 4-3 loss. Finally, the team fell to Cistercian in the last game, 3-2, losing the T.I.S.C. championship.

With the end of the season came S.P.C. For the first time in several years, the Falcons competed in Division I. The Falcons went in with high hopes, but came out losing three close games. The Falcons played eventual champions St. Stephens twice, losing both times, 3-1. They also lost to Kincaid, in the snow, 1-0.

Under the direction of second year head coach Don Welch, the Falcons surged to a respectable .500 season. Along with the fine season came many great achievements. Mike Bueschel scored the first hat trick in four years. David Corley and Sherman Young were also high scorers. Goalies John Boswell and Jimmy Innis had four and two shut-outs, respectively. Six players were named to S.P.C. All-Conference. Captains for the 77-78 season were Scott Nowlin, Robert Dickerson, and John Boswell.

Conditioners Ran, Stretched, Kicked And Danced

"Take pity on us!" cried the fatigued runners. Ms. Norma Wilkerson and Ms. Nancy Pratt led the girls conditioning classes in a strenuous jogging and weight lifting program. The girls strived to get their bodies in good physical condition. Each day, the conditioners stretched to warm up, before running four laps around the track. Girl's aerobic dance, a popular conditioning program, made its debut with instructor Mrs. Peggy Wadley and a group of girls in a motley assortment of tights and T-shirts. Aerobic dance increased cardio-vascular capacity through a series of dance routines done to popular music.

The boy's program, headed by Dr. Ford Dixon, ran the "Dixon mile" and lifted weights. For a break from the routine, the conditioners played soccer and touch football.

Top: Mrs. Peggy Wadley and her aerobic dancers do the "two-step" to "Love Will Keep Us Together."
Bottom left: Senior boys Cal Jackson, Linc Conn, Roberts Drew and David Dement take the last lap of their "Dixon mile."
Bottom right: David Dement and Roberts Drew huff and puff as they run up the stairs for the twentieth time.

CHALLENGES?

We grew up on 'em. Offshore, in the Southwest and the Midcontinent, through the Rockies, into California, across to Canada; Champlin is finding and producing the crude oil and natural gas our country needs.

With over a quarter billion dollars expended on refinery expansion and another quarter of a billion committed as our share of a new joint venture, petrochemical plant, we're also transforming that oil and gas into products which the consumer can use.

Champlin is a growing petroleum-based company looking for new challenges everyday.

CLASS OF '81

Spending the summer up at RCCC and camp. Get high, Pelé is back. T.V. recruits. Farrah finally got her braces off. Conservative National Guard. Basketball Bones. Boy's volleyball games after lunch. Todd and Mary Kaye. Patsy. Writing on people with pens. McKay "Mellows Out" in Aspen. The freshman band still has no name. L.F. built for tennis. Cool your buns! Thirty-eight special mailboxes. B.H. and R.G. "I hate him with a purple passion." Twiggy's tiny feet. Right off. "Playing cards is illegal, Mr. Minnerly?!" Dan's mo-ped. "Football, you bet!" Elizabeth's famous "say what?" Teresa. Scoggins and Kolba "bomb out" together. I.P.S. isn't anything like Sex Ed. Gwen's athletic abilities attract senior boys. P-tirbed. Frasher's Kirk Douglas chin. Ron Sawhill, Mel Smell, and Jim Sprinkle write nasty notes. Garner sleeps with his camera. Marshall got a Les. Freshman pep rallies and new cheerleaders. Shoe polishing cars. I lerve him. "Bert," Oh shut up! He's eaugly. Love you too! Megan. Jerry Apple. Christmas Caroling. Always going to movies. "Can I have a ride (I wish I had my license)?" Spaghetti legs. Schreier's spaghetti surprise. Freshmen forced to "frolick" at football camp. "Got a new space game, Carl?" Lady's night out. "Oh, I guess you had to be there, huh?" The "Little man." Lucia's breakfast bars. "I forget my locker key every Monday, Mr. Welch, so just be prepared." The Rhino's little sister-giraffe. "You didn't call me back." Joe's family of freshman daughters. Uuuuh. "You're so queer." Lexi has a car. "That's foul." Dezann runs into parked cars. Yogurt for lunch. Diets, diets, and more diets. Young life. Shiv's lightbulb toe. B.S. and K. L.M. blow up science labs. D.D.P.'s. James' watch wakes him up in the morning. Mimi B.'s cookies. Marilyn's gleeks! Field Hockey freshman need love too! Glynnis and Leslie's acting. Herd's baby powder. Herman Schlep. Rachel likes to build things. Jumping Joan. Michelle. Frankie. M^3. All conference Adrienne. Judy's lucky overalls. "Can you believe Elizabeth's an only child?" "Pants and Turtle." Mooec 'n Harding. Nanu. Julie iceskates. Frenchies. Getting hoarse. Strange slumber party conversations. Crummy buttons. Missy is here to stay. Lil' Mack. Trey's famous grandfather. "W-o-o-osh!" Porker. Rapunzel. Joe's famous slumber parties. R.G. goes for young prospect. F.G. no good! J.S., young juvenile. "Dr. K." C.K. gets a touch-down. Merum. Steve Martin's "Let's get small," "Well, excuse me," "It's been real . . ."

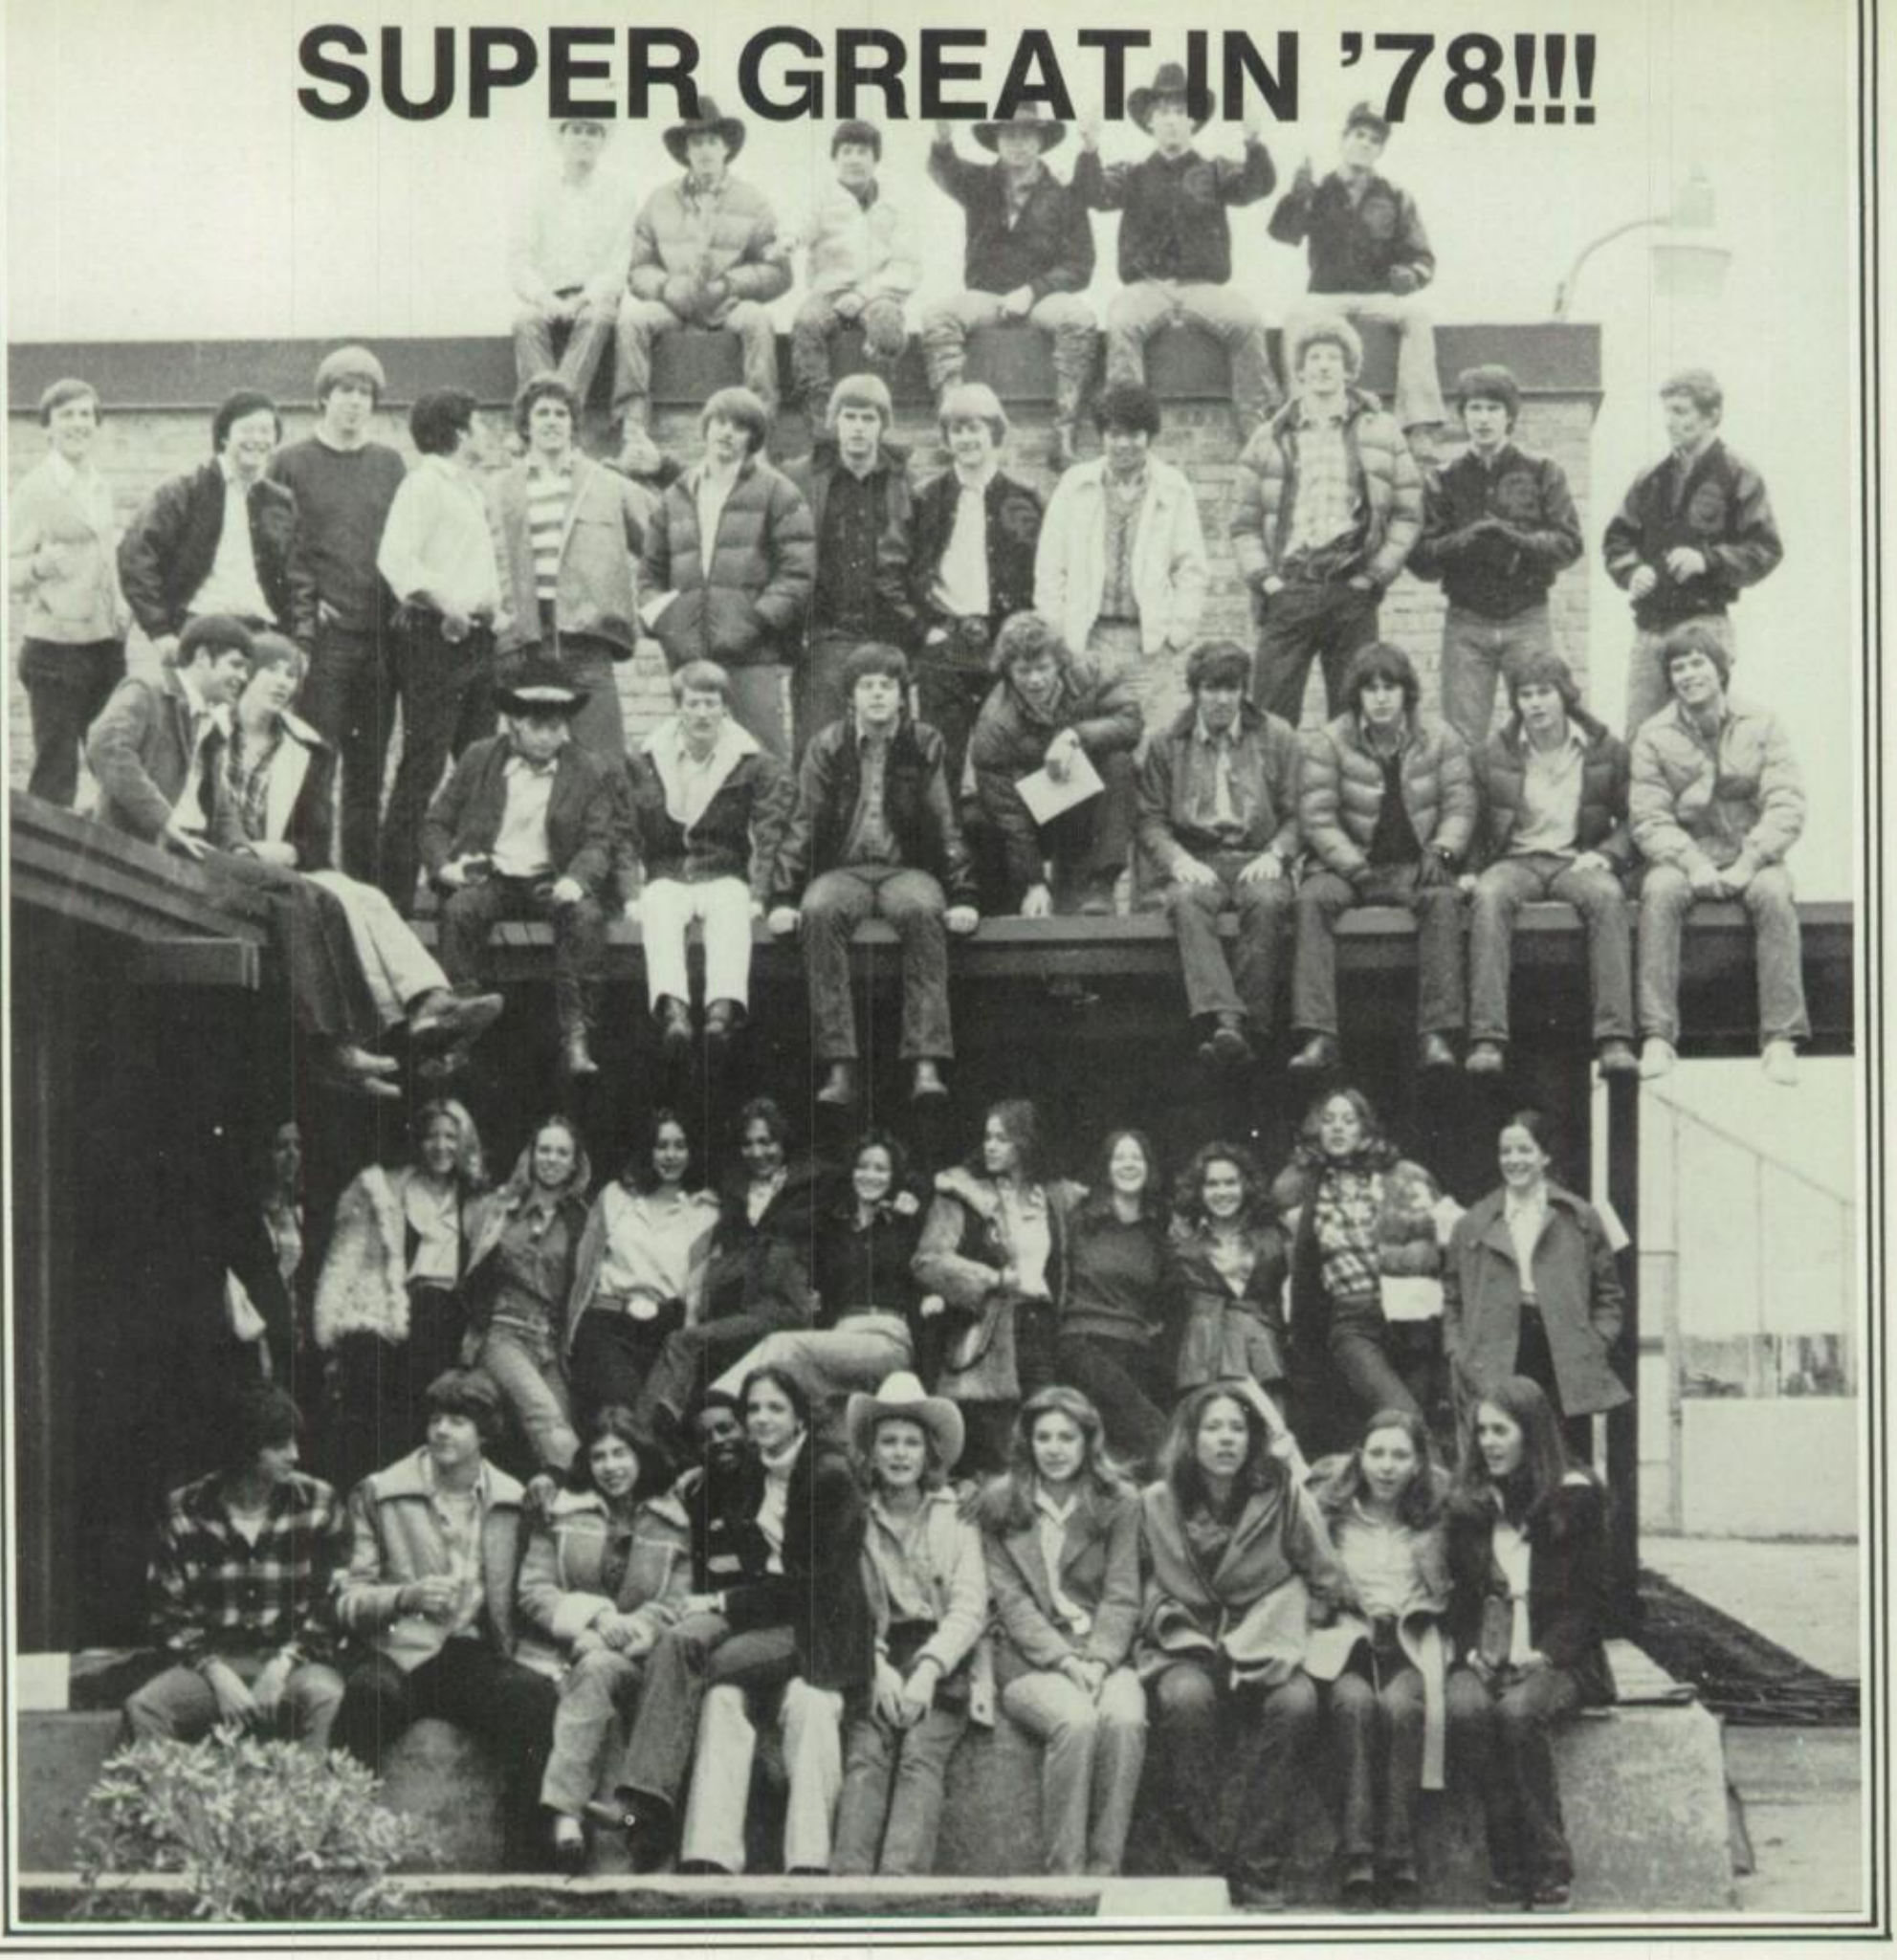
SUPER GREAT IN '78!!!



Seniors reveal their talents by wall-painting the Senior Lounge. "Where is everybody partying tonight??" Hotspots: Tootsies, Fillups, Chelsea Street, Jack-in-the-Box, Chick Fillet, Mama's, Wendy's Burgundy Tree, Rangoon, and Galligaskins. Boswell's overnight party was really a smash, and so were the Seniors. No less than great: "Kadee," "Leesh," Lora," "Bobs," "Sloth," "Spook," "Captain Goofy Shoes," "Kimipoo," "La Hoovre," "Boris," "Wobbie," "Demented," "The Major," "The Duke," "Ratman," "Hooer," "Rhino," "Mindolin," "Airwham," "The Boz," "Ken-Roy," "Is What He Does," "The General," "Doc," "Mikey," "Blivett," "Meto," "Goody Two Shoes," "Mr. Cool," "Bubbles," "Bomar," "Yankee Dog," "Copenhagen Kid," "The Mauler," "Mr. Flex," "Ricky Rodeo," "Scooter," "Van B," "Space Monkey," "Onion Runyon," "Knockers," "Fortsie," "Boosh," "Squatty." The Big Dippers. Lounging in the scrounge. First class for freshman orientation and last class for camping school. Carter, Young, and Conlin on the five year plan. Japan and Belgium unite at Homecoming. "Alicia and Muriel, did ya'll ever make it to Waco?" Girls receive their first mums at Homecoming. Monogrammed Oxford Cloth shirts, penny loafers, topsiders, and khakis. "George Young is the editor of the Falcon Quill??" Everyone gets a car — A.R., M.W., L.M., M.M., J.C., R.M., S.B. "Copenhagen Satisfies." Christmas caroling at Carters? Class '78 donates a new floor to GDRA after New Years. "College. What's College?" Senior Boys — the illustrious undefeated football studs. Laura, Mindy, Elizabeth, Alicia, and Bebe say "Diamonds are forever" at X-mas. Roller Skating at Silver Wheel — Osamu wins a rabbit's foot. "I think we should have a Senior Skip Day once a week." S.F.H.Y. "I just love college men." E.B. and J.B., A.R. and W.J., L.W. and B.F., L.M. and R.M., B.R. and R.P., S.O. and S.B., J.V. and F.G., R.D. and J.M. Scooter "visits" colleges. "Get Small." Cherry Hill High instructs the senior girls. Girls kidnap boys for X-mas caroling and hot buttered rum. L.M., E.B., and B.W. give early morning wake-up visits to R.M., M.G. and J.B., but B.W. pays. Spelunkers party at Olson's winds up the football season with a bang. D.S. wanted to pick stickers at football camp, while Tim gets a bedwarmer. B-Day parties at Joe T.'s for M.M., R.D., and J.B. M.B. has the first hat trick in soccer since '75. Senior table — hockey in the scrounges. The Duke's Gang — G.Y., M.G., R.D., G.C., S.B., L.C., C.J. S-Chains and Diamond Stud Earrings. B.W. takes a fall at Vanderbilt. Open Campus cleans out seniors' wallets. Muriel's spaghetti and George's Pancakes at Camping School. "Redford — they don't make them like they used to!" "It's only 144 more days 'til we graduate." SUPER GREAT IN '78!

Well, we're almost there. Juniors have off-campus phobia, dreaded disease. Half the Junior boys are married, but not to the Junior girls (Maybe because they all went to Heights.) For Paula and J.T. it's still love. "Shoulders." Is Babs a Junior or a Senior? Martha, Susan, Sarah, and Lisa: The D.Q. Fun Bunch. "Daaayvid 'n Daaayna." The Junior boys just love to type. Miss Teenage Fort Worth: You're not getting older, your're getting fluffier." "Vance, that's the third time today you've run over my foot." "Daaaiiieee." Jimmy loves to French. Vance is the best parallel parker in the whole class. Marsha loves her Go-Cart. The Sander's Arms. Juniors have boogie in their blood. Andrea's favorite class in a day is Erotic Dance 1245. D.W. and S.W. still the Terrible Twosome a la B.B.; Tootsie's. "All-deee." "What-eee." Navy Davy. Junior Class Wrecking Crew. "Sticks" Wilson. Shut UP, Morris, A class of Jr. Steve Martins, Namu and his Crew. "Garbowl '77." "Faantastic; works every time." The Blaze. (4WD) B.W. and J.I. in Brownwood, the Big Spring Trio. "Do you mind if I smoke? No; Do you mind if I Flaggellate?" Another party at Mckay's??? Faaaast Eddy: Roving Bookmobile. B.W.'s War-Wagon II. "Brick House." Knockin' things ovah. Juniors ask the ultimate question: "How Long?" We don't wanna Sit Down, We wana GET DOWN." Juniors are always havin' FUN FUN FUN!
